Starting a Program from the Run Window

1. Press the Windows key and the R key at the same time.

2. In the Open field, type notepad.

3. Click OK. Notepad will open in a new window.

If the program that you want to start has been run from the Run window before, you can find it on the Open field's drop-down list. Click the down arrow to display the list, and then select the program that you want by clicking its name and then OK.